INTRODUCTORY

In publishing the 1939 edition of the Directory The Times of India take the opportunity of thanking Government Departments, Commercial Firms, Public Institutions and the many hundreds of private and professional individuals for so readily furnishing them with particulars asked for. Without this co-operation, the work can hardly be as up-to-date as it has been possible to make it, nor as reliable as it is claimed to be.

BARODA & THE GUJARAT STATES AGENCY.

Consequent upon the establishment of direct relations between the Government of India and the Bombay States since April 1933 many States and Estates which were previously included in the various Political Agencies of the Bombay Government have now been included in a newly formed Political Agency of the Government of India designated the Baroda and the Gujarat States Agency. The charge of this new Agency has been added to the charge of the Resident at Baroda, who is now known as the Resident for Baroda and the Gujarat States. The Political Agencies thus amalgamated were the Rewa Kantha Agency, the Kaira Agency, the Surat Agency, the Nasik Agency and the Thana Agency.

The following are the full powered salute States now in direct political relations with the Government of India through the "Resident for Baroda and the Gujarat States":—

 Under Secretary to the Resident for Baroda and the Gujarat States:—Capt. R. K. M. Saker.

REWA KANTHA AGENCY—INCLUDING THE SURGANA STATE AND THE DANGS.

This Agency is a subordinate Political Agency of the Gujarat States Agency. It is comprised of all the non-salute States and Estates of the old Rewa Kantha Agency, the State of Surgana, previously in the Nasik Agency and the petty States known as the Dangs, previously in the Surat Agency.

Rewa Kantha means the district or province situated on the banks of the river Rewa or Narmada or Narbuda. This river is held in high veneration among the Hindus especially in the Bombay Presidency.

All the States comprised in the Province of Rewa Kantha are not on the banks of Narbada, for some of the Northern States, i.e., Kadana, and the States in Pandu Mewas are on the banks of the Mahi river. In fact the Rewa Kantha Agency comprises territories watered both by the Rewa and Mahi Rivers.

The population consists of the following main classes: Hindus, Jains, Musalmans, Animistic (Bhils, Dhankas, Kolis and Naikdas).

Surgana is situated on the borders of the Nasik District.

The Dangs consist of a tract of country between the Sahyadris and the Surat District which is parcelled out among 14 petty Chiefs. Of these 13 are Bhils and one a Kokani.

The Headquarters of the Agency which is situated at Baroda in view of the fact that the Secretary to the Resident for Baroda and the Gujarat States is also ex-officio Political Agent of this Agency, consist of:—

Political Agent:—M. Worth, I.C.S.

Deputy Political Agent:—Kumar Shri Baneshinji J. Jhala.

Deputy Political Agent for the Dangs:—E. O. Sampson, M.B.E.

Many of the States and Estates are small and only a few enjoy restricted jurisdictional powers. The four Chiefs of Kadana, Bhaderwa, Surgana and Jambughoda are however larger and more important, the first three named being included in the list of electorates for representative members of the Chamber of Princes.

The following 16 States conduct their relations through the Political Agent :—

AGAR—Area 17 sq. mls., Pop. 3,586, Rev. Rs. 32,000.

As far back as 1896 the late Messrs. Dady and Framroze C. Golwalla first conceived of a scheme for a Swimming Bath and opened one in the fresh water tank in the compound of Chana Ramji Press at Colaba.

Appreciating the vital need of a Cosmopolitan institution on the same lines, however, Golwalla Bros. acquired a site on Back Bay Shore and on March 21st, 1900, Sir Lawrence Jenkins, the then Chief Justice, laid the foundation stone of what is known as Golwalla Bros. Victoria Swimming Bath, where more than 70,000 people of all castes and creeds have benefited from the tuition of Golwalla Bros.

The Bath is open to all communities of both sexes and special personal instruction in Swimming, Diving, Life Saving and Water Polo is given by a staff of well qualified teachers.

The Bath can be reserved by individual parties and suitable convenient hours are arranged by the Proprietors.

EDUCATIONAL.

UNIVERSITY OF BOMBAY.

Incorporated under Act XXII of 1857 (subsequently amended by Act VIII of 1904 and by Act IV of 1928 with all its subsequent amendments).

The Senate meets ordinarily once a year, on the last Saturday in January and at other times when convened by the Vice-Chancellor. A meeting of the Senate can be convened on the requisition of any twenty of the Fellows to the Vice-Chancellor. Twenty members of the Senate form a quorum; and all questions are decided by a majority of the votes of the members present, the Chairman, when the numbers are equal, having a second or casting vote. There are five Faculties, viz., Arts, Science, Technology, Law and Medicine. A member of the Senate may be assigned, on the recommendation of the Syndicate, to one or more Faculties. Each Faculty elects its own Dean. The Annual Convocation for conferring degrees is held on the third Tuesday in August.

The Executive Government of the University is vested in a Syndicate consisting of the Vice-Chancellor as Chairman, the Director of Public Instruction and sixteen Fellows, who are elected for three years by the Academic Council and the Senate in the proportion of 7 : 9.

BYRAMJEE JEEJEEBHAY MEDICAL SCHOOL, POONA.

The School in Poona opened with 82 pupils on the 1st November 1878. The formal opening ceremony was performed by Sir Richard Temple, Governor of Bombay, on 7th December 1878. On that occasion, Sir Richard Temple announced that Mr. Byramjee Jeejeebhoy had generously promised a gift of a bungalow in Civil Lines to serve as residential quarters for the students and a sum of Rs. 10,000 for the formation of an Endowment Fund for the School.

Since its opening, the School has continued to expand and the curriculum, which originally was of three years, has, since 1906, been extended to four years. As the school steadily progressed, the necessity for new buildings began to be felt, and in the year 1908 two new blocks of buildings, consisting of two lecture rooms, an examination hall, and a new dissecting room with other subsidiary rooms, were erected by Government. A large residential building to accommodate 80 pupils was also built by Government. This is situated in the compound of the bungalow originally presented by Mr. Byramjee Jeejeebhoy. In 1915, a house for the Medical Officer, who supervises the students' quarters, was erected.

The standard of admission to the L.O.P.S. Course was raised to the Inter-Science Examination of "B", Group of the Bombay University with effect from June 15th, 1937.

On 1st November 1928, the occasion of the Golden Jubilee of the School, the New Laboratory building and the Out-Patient Department were opened by the Minister of Education. An independent Anatomy Department is being fitted up.

GUJARAT COLLEGE, Ahmedabad.

In 1856 the Honourable Mr. T. C. Hope (afterwards Sir Theodore Hope), then Educational Inspector for the Northern Division, convened a public meeting of the leading citizens of Ahmedabad, for the purpose of establishing an Arts College, and invited them to raise a sum for it in order to induce Government to supplement it. In response to this call a sum of Rs. 42,600 was raised. By the end of 1860, with the accumulation of interest and further donations, the sum rose to more than Rs. 72,500 and Government in that year opened a class in the Government High School for teaching Law, Logic, Applied Mathematics and Drawing. This class was called "The Gujarat Provincial College." The cost of the College was Rs. 430 per mensem only, half of which was defrayed by Government. There were only three or four professors including the Head-Master of the High School, who acted as Principal of the new College. The College was not affiliated to the University of Bombay which came into being in 1857. Undergraduates, therefore, had to go to Bombay to read for their degree examinations. This was the main cause of paucity of numbers in the new College. At the end of the first decade (1861-1871) Government and the Gujarat College Fund Committee finding that the small class which had existed for this period did not answer the purpose for which the fund was raised, closed the institution from 1872. The funds were allowed to accumulate until a favourable opportunity presented itself to carry out the original object of establishing an Arts College. Government discontinued their share of contribution during the time the fund remained unspent.

In 1878 when Sir Richard Temple was Governor, Government announced that a College on a moderate scale could be started at an annual cost of Rs. 16,000, provided the citizens of Ahmedabad could contribute half this sum annually. The Municipality of Ahmedabad promised to contribute Rs. 3,000 per annum to make up the deficiency until the Endowment Fund was raised to Rs. 2,00,000. The College was re-opened in March 1879, and was affiliated to the University of Bombay up to the "First Arts Examination" which corresponded to the present Intermediate Arts Standard. The number of students which had risen to 39 in March 1880, dwindled to 7 only in November 1882, because the College did not teach the full University Course, and students found it more profitable to go to Bombay for their full undergraduate course. Leading citizens of Ahmedabad submitted a Memorial to the Educational Commission appointed by the Government of India which visited the city in November 1882. In the meanwhile the funds of the College through the energy of its citizens were raised to Rs. 2,00,000. Government accordingly undertook the management of the College from 1884, appointed a Staff for that purpose and held the College classes in a separate building. In that year the University of Bombay recognised the College up to the B.A. Examination. In 1887 Government handed over the institution to the Society for the Promotion of Higher Education in Gujarat. The administration of the College was assigned to a Board composed of Government Officials and representatives of the Society and the Municipality.

In 1898 the College was given 30 acres of land on its present site on the Ellis Bridge area. The cost of the new buildings was Rs. 1,92,327 of which Rs. 85,097 was contributed by Government. On the 16th of July 1912, the Society for the Promotion of Higher Education in Gujarat having dissolved itself the College was finally handed back to Government.

To assist Government to assume full and effective control of the College Sir Chinubhai Madhavai, Baronet, C.I.E., gave the munificent donation of two lakhs of Rupees for the Arts College, and six lakhs for the Science Institution in the College. The Madhavai Ranchhodlal Science Institute was inaugurated in 1912 by H. E. Lord Sydenham (then Sir George Clarke). Sir Chinubhai also donated Rs. 1,50,000 for the provision of a Library, which was named after Lord Sydenham as "The Sydenham Library" and a college hall designated "King George V Hall" to commemorate the visit of Their Majesties to India in 1911.

SIR ELLY KADOORIE SCHOOL—Mazgaon, Bombay.

The Sir Elly Kadoorie School, formerly the Israelite School, was first opened on a small scale in 1875 for the education of Bene-Israel children. The school was subsequently enlarged in 1881, mainly through the efforts of the late Mr. Haecm Samuel Kehumkar, who worked for the school for over 25 years as Hon. President, Secretary, and Treasurer. In 1898 the present spacious grounds of the School with a building were purchased for Rs. 80,000 collected from Government, the Anglo-Jewish Association, London, and generous members of the public from Europe and India.

In the year 1908 the school passed from the hands of the late Mr. Haecm Samuel Kehumkar into those of a Managing Committee, composed of 14 members, 3 nominated by the Anglo-Jewish Association, London, 10 elected by the members of the School, and the Principal Ex-Officio. In 1928 Sir Elly Kadoorie, K.B.E., Com. Leg. Hon. of Shanghai, donated a sum of over £10,000 for the extension and remodelling of the building which amount supplemented by local donations, enabled the committee to house the school in the present commodious building. In appreciation of Sir Elly Kadoorie's princely gift the school is called after him since 1st April 1932.

The principal object of this school is to impart religious and secular instruction to Bene-Israel students. The school is now being taken advantage of by Hindu students of the locality. The school imparts both Primary and Secondary education, preparing students for the Matriculation Examination of the University of Bombay.

The "Gate of Mercy" Synagogue, the oldest synagogue in Bombay, has been helping the school in various ways since 1912.

With a view to enable the children of poor parents to prosecute their studies in the school the late Mr. Herman Landau, O.B.E., a philanthropic gentleman of London, donated in the year 1919 a sum of Rs. 10,000. The interest on this sum is utilised in giving scholarships. The school also makes arrangements for providing books and clothing and one free meal a day to the children of poor Jewish parents. Near Sir J. J. School of Art, Hornby Road, Bombay.

This College was opened in October 1913 for the general purpose of furnishing young men embarking on a business life with an education of a University standard in subjects that are bound to be of primary interest and importance to them in their careers. It was founded on the model of the great and rapidly developing institutions of a similar type in England, the Continent of Europe and America, which have done so much to deepen and widen the understanding of industrial and commercial matters in the countries where they have been established.

As a College of "Commerce," it aims at training a class of Indian businessmen capable of ultimately rising, after the acquisition of practical experience, to the higher and more responsible positions in enterprise of every kind, by virtue of expert knowledge, breadth of outlook, organizing capacity, and force of character.

As a college of "Economics" it aims at providing a liberal education in all branches of social science likely to be helpful to anyone concerned with public affairs, whether as an administrator, writer, or teacher.

The College accordingly offers—

- (a) An obligatory General course in subjects, an acquaintance with which is required by every well informed businessman, e.g., Economic Theory, Industrial History, Commercial Geography, Foreign Trade, National Administration, Public Finance, Indian Currency and Banking, Statistics, Mercantile Law, Business Organization.

- (b) Optional courses in Special subjects, which are selected by students in accordance with the particular demands of their intended vocation, e.g., Banking, Accounting, Actuarial Science, the organization of the Cotton Trade and the Economics of Transport.

The College is affiliated to the University of Bombay, and provides a systematic course of study leading to the degree of Bachelor of Commerce. Under the system of inter-collegiate lectures, it provides the courses in economics required by M.A. candidates. It offers facilities under trained investigators for post-graduate research in connection with the many problems of Indian economics development, past, present and future. There are evening classes to prepare candidates for the "First" Examination held under the Auditor's certificates Rules by the Government of India, and also other single courses at low fees on selected subjects including shorthand, for the benefit of those engaged in business during the day. The College has its own Hostel, Cricket Ground and Tennis Court.

BOMBAY NATURAL HISTORY SOCIETY.

Office and Library, 6, Apollo Street, Bombay.

A Society formed for the purpose of promoting the study of Natural History in all its branches.

This Society was founded in 1883 by eight residents of Bombay (Dr. D. Macdonald, Mr. E. H. Aitken, Col. Swinhoe, Mr. J. C. Anderson, Mr. J. Johnston, Dr. Atmaram, Dr. Macdonald and Dr. Sakaram Arjun) for the purpose of exchanging notes and observations on zoology and exhibiting interesting specimens of animal life. The first few meetings of the Society were held in the Victoria and Albert Museum, at Byculla, but in 1884 Mr. H. M. Phipson, who had then joined the Society, offered the use of a room in his Office in the Fort, which resulted in a greatly increased membership and better attendance at the Meetings. To this room, which was situated in 18, Forbes Street, Mr. Phipson added the use of others, which continued to serve as the headquarters of the Society until December 1885, when the present more suitable premises at 6, Apollo Street, were obtained. In January 1886, the Society issued the first number of its now well-known Journal.

The Society possesses a valuable reference library containing over 1,000 volumes and good reference collections of birds, snakes, lizards, small mammals, insects, marine and land shells, fishes, birds, eggs and a herbarium. It also owns a fine collection of horns, heads and skulls of the larger Indian Mammalia. The collections are practically limited to the Oriental Region.

In 1921 the Society was entrusted with the management of the Natural History Section of the Prince of Wales Museum, and a great part of the Society's collections, trophies and natural history specimens, other than the reference ones, have been transferred to that Museum. These Exhibits are under the management of a Sub-Committee of three Trustees, two are appointed by the Society and the third by the Board of Trustees of the Prince of Wales Museum.

The Society's reference collections continue to be maintained for the benefit of members and accredited students at the Society's rooms in Apollo Street.

The Society for several years conducted a survey of the Mammal Fauna of India and Burma. Over a lakh of Rupees was spent on this work and over 20,000 specimens have been examined and classified at the British Museum. This work has enabled the Secretary of State to authorize the publication of a new and completely revised edition of the volume on Mammals in the Fauna of British India Series.

The Society has completed Ornithological Surveys of the Eastern Ghats, Travancore, Cochin, Hyderabad State, Gwalior, Jodhpur and Bhopal, which have added greatly to our knowledge of the Avi-Fauna of India.

The Annual subscription is Rs. 25, which includes the Society's Journal. The Society numbers 1,200 members but many more are desired.

The Journal is published about four times a year and contains articles on different Natural History subjects as well as descriptions of new species, and local lists of different orders. In the more recent numbers, serial articles on Game Birds, Familiar Flowering Trees and general articles on Sport and Big Game Shooting have been appearing.

In 1928 the Society was registered under the Societies Registration Act of 1860. Under the Articles of Association the control and management of the Society was vested in an Executive Committee comprised of ten members of the Society resident in or within 200 miles of Bombay, which is assisted in an advisory capacity by an Advisory Committee composed of ten members residing outside the area.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN BIBLE SOCIETY (BOMBAY AUXILIARY).

Bible House, 170, Hornby Road, Bombay.

This Auxiliary of the British and Foreign Bible Society was founded in 1813, under the auspices of the Governor of Bombay, Sir Evan Nepean, who was a Vice-President of the Society in London. Its one aim and object is to circulate the Holy Scriptures, without note or comment, throughout Western India. Its first Honorary Secretary was the Rev. Thos. Carr, D.D., who became the first Bishop of Bombay. The stocks of Scriptures in English, French, Dutch, Portuguese, etc., were stored in the Vestry of St. Thomas' Cathedral for many years and the monthly meetings of Committee were held there regularly. Soon after the Auxiliary was founded, the translation of the Bible into Marathi and Gujarati, the two chief languages of Western India, was begun. The translation of the Gujarati Bible was completed in 1823, while the first Marathi Bible was published in 1847. During more than 120 years of work in Bombay Presidency, seven million copies of the Holy Scriptures have been circulated, chiefly by sale, at rates very much lower than cost price. Besides the translation, revision, publication and ordinary means of dissemination of the Bible large grants of money are made to Missionary Societies in order to assist Scripture distribution throughout Western India. Missionary Societies and Churches of all Protestant denominations depend solely on the Bible Society for vernacular Scriptures, which are essential to them in their various departments of service. Large numbers of English Bibles and New Testaments are also presented gratis every year to Graduates and Matriculates of Bombay University.

Since the greater proportion of the Society's expenses must be borne by voluntary contributions it is dependent upon the support of all Christian people for help to carry on its beneficent work.

RAMAKRISHNA MISSION, KHAR, BOMBAY 21.

The Ramakrishna Mission, founded in the year 1897 by Swami Vivekananda, is a Neo-Hindu religious movement, which has as its primary object the promotion of inter-communal amity, inter-racial concord and international fellowship. Ramakrishna, the master of the great Swami, was the embodiment of the harmony of religions. In this age of clash and conflict of cultures, when the sharpness of difference between creed and creed is being keenly felt, the Mission has been emphasising the unity of religions. Service of humanity is the service of God—is the motto of the Mission. The Mission has more than a hundred Centres all over India, Burma, Ceylon and Federated Malay States. There are ten Vedanta Societies in the prominent cities of the United States of America, one in Buenos Ayres, one in London and one in Geneva. The Bombay Branch of the Mission, started in 1923, at Khar, has been conducting religious lectures and classes both in the City of Bombay and in the suburbs. It runs an outdoor charitable dispensary and free reading room and library on non-sectarian principles.

The Ashram opened a Guest House and a Students' Home in 1933. The Students' Home is open to all bona fide College students of Bombay. The object of the Home is to supplement the University Education with cultural discipline and religious knowledge. The Home has at present accommodation for 15 boys. THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY.

BLAVATSKY LODGE, Bombay.

THE THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY was formed in New York by Mme. H. P. Blavatsky and Col. H. S. Olcott on 17th November 1875 and incorporated in Madras on 3rd April 1905 (having its Headquarters at Adyar, Madras). Col. H. S. Olcott was the first President, and on his death in 1907, Dr. Annie Besant was elected President by four septennial elections. She held the office till her death in September 1933, and was succeeded by the present President, Dr. George S. Arundale, M.A., LL.B., F.R. Hist.S., D.Litt. During its 63 years' existence the society has spread its branches all over the world. It has 47 National Sections containing, 1,345 Lodges. Its membership is about 83,300 of which 4,378 belong to the Indian Section (having its Headquarters at Benares).

The Theosophical Society is a non-sectarian body of seekers after Truth, striving to serve humanity on spiritual lines, and therefore endeavouring to check materialism and revive religious tendencies. Its three declared objects are:—(1) To form a nucleus of the Universal Brotherhood of Humanity, without distinction of race, creed, sex, caste or colour. (2) To encourage the study of comparative religion, philosophy and science. (3) To investigate the unexplained laws of nature and the powers latent in man.

The Society is composed of students, belonging to any religion in the world or to none, who are united by their approval of the above objects, by their wish to remove religious antagonisms and to draw together men of goodwill, irrespective of their religious opinions, and by their desire to study religious truths and share the results of their studies with others. Their bond of union is not the profession of a common belief, but a common search and aspiration for Truth. They hold that Truth should be sought by study, by reflection, by purity of life, by devotion to high ideals, and regard Truth as a prize to be striven for, not as a dogma to be imposed by authority. They consider that belief should be the result of individual study, or of intuition, and not its antecedent, and should rest on knowledge, not on assertion. They extend tolerance to all, even to the intolerant, not as a privilege, but as a duty, and they seek to remove ignorance, not to punish it. They see every religion as an expression of the Divine wisdom and prefer its study to its condemnation, and its practice to proselytism. Peace is their watchword, as Truth is their aim.

The Blavatsky Lodge, French Bridge, Chowpatty, Bombay, which was founded on 23rd April 1879, and obtained its charter on 20th February 1880, was registered on 9th July 1906. It is the first branch of the Society to be established in India and has its own spacious building, a good library and a book-depot. R. M. Alpaiwala, B.A., LL.B., Bar-at-Law, is its President and N. Churches of England.

ST. THOMAS' CATHEDRAL—Bombay.

The first scheme for building a Church on the Island of Bombay originated in 1675, the English Services then being conducted in a Hall in the Castle. Money was collected, but though the Church was commenced, it never got higher than fifteen feet. In 1715 Chaplain Cobbe appealed to have this stigma removed, and on Christmas Day, 1718, the Church was opened with great rejoicings. In 1814 Bombay had been made an Archdeaconry of Calcutta and on 7th January 1816 the Church was consecrated with all due solemnity by the Right Rev. Thomas Fanshaw Middleton, D.D. In 1837 Bombay was created a Bishopric, and in 1838, on the arrival of Dr. Carr, the first Bishop, it was notified to be the Cathedral Church of the See, under the dedication of St. Thomas the Apostle. The present pinnacled tower was erected consisting of a lantern standing upon a square tower at its base, the whole rising 146 feet from ground level and containing a clock with three small quarter bells each suitably inscribed. There are two Silver Chalice of particular interest, one being the gift of Governor Gerald Aungier, whilst the other's history is bound up in mystery and is inscribed "The gift of the Greenland merchants of the Cities of York, 1632." In 1867-68 the present beautiful chancel and organ chamber were constructed, the first-stone being laid by Sir Bartle Frere.

The Lady Chapel has a splendid reredos given as a thanks offering, and the screen surrounding the Chapel is in memory of Captain Mathias who gave his life for his country during the great war.

The Ambroli Church, formerly supported by the United Free Church of Scotland Mission was founded by the Right Rev. John Wilson, D.D., the renowned missionary. The first worship of the congregation was held on 4th February 1831 in the Ambroli House, the residence of Dr. Wilson, in which is now housed the Girgaum Post Office. The Church is now self-supporting and is under the United Church of Northern India.

The Ambroli Church was built in 1869 and was consecrated for worship on 28th February of that year. It is a fairly large building with a beautiful belfry. It stands on the Girgaum Back Road (now Vithalbhai Patel Road) half-way between C. P. Tank and Prarthanasaraj.

In the Church compound is the Manse, and a hostel for working class Christian young men.

The School for the Blind, under the management of the American Marathi Mission was established in 1900. It was opened in famine times, when both the young and adult blind were admitted. It has gradually developed into a strictly educational institution. At present, only girls and boys upto the age of 18, irrespective of any caste, creed, colour or religion are admitted. This is not a proselytising institution. The aim of the school is to make the blind children self-supporting, self-respecting and contributive members of the society and to help them take their rightful position along with their seeing compeers. The ordinary school subjects are taught in English, Marathi and Gujarati from Kindergarten through High School. School-life activities, such as Scouting, Cubbing, Girl-guiding, Literary, Excursion, and other clubs are an essential part of the education of the children. Great importance is given to physical education.

A special department, probably the only one of its kind in India, namely a Department of the Deaf-Blind-Mute was started in January 1938. The triply-handicapped child is taught to speak through tactual and oral method, to hear through bone-conduction and to read and write with Braille.

Within a short time Sight-Saving classes for partially blind children will be started.

The Music Department is affiliated to the Indian School of Music.

Cane work is the principal industry and the product is on sale for the benefit of the department. Other industries taught are button-making out of cocoanut shell, Sisal hemp work and bead-chain-making.

Apart from the Government Educational and Technical grants-in-aid, the School dependent upon the public for support. The building for which the land and a generous building grant were given by the Government is now located on a healthy and spacious plot on Dadar Station Road, a few minutes walk from Parel Tramway Terminus. Visitors are very welcome to see the children at work from 11 a.m. to 4-30 p.m. on week days and from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays. CITY FEVER (INFECTIOUS DISEASES) HOSPITALS—

Arthur Road, Jacob Circle, Bombay.

These Hospitals, which are equipped and maintained by the Bombay Municipal Corporation were opened at Arthur Road on the outbreak of an epidemic of small-pox in 1892. Previous to this in the year 1888, the Bombay Municipality started a hospital at Grant Road called the Grant Road Infectious Diseases Hospital. This hospital was generally opened during the epidemics of small-pox and cholera and was closed during the rest of the year. The hospital worked for four, six, one and seven months during the years 1888, 1889, 1890 and 1891 respectively. It was permanently closed on the 26th July, 1892, and the patients, furniture, etc., were transferred to Arthur Road. This hospital was made ready for the admission of patients on 12th March 1892, and had been called The Arthur Road Hospital for Infectious Diseases. But when the small-pox section was entirely separated from the General section the name was given as "City Fever Hospitals." In the beginning, patients suffering from cholera and small-pox were chiefly admitted and treated, but now patients suffering from all infectious diseases are treated here. During the first outbreak of plague, patients suffering from that disease were also treated at this Hospital, and, from 1896 to 1901, 6,332 plague patients were treated. Since 1901 the admission of plague patients into this Hospital was discontinued, and a separate hospital known as Maratha Hospital was started for such cases in 1902. But from 1930, the Maratha Hospital is exclusively maintained for advanced tuberculosis and road side cases, and the admission of plague cases in the City Fever Hospitals has been resumed.

At present the hospitals are divided into two units, one for small-pox and the other for all other infectious diseases except Tuberculosis.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Children's Home, Umarkhadi, Bombay.

The Children's Aid Society was established in 1927 to help forward the operation of the Bombay Children Act by taking over responsibility for the maintenance of the Umarkhadi Children's Remand Home, for the organisation of inquiry work regarding the cases of boys and girls dealt with by the Juvenile Court and for the co-ordination of work done by voluntary supervision workers appointed by the Court. The Children's Aid Society is a private charitable organisation with a grant-in-aid from Government. Its work lies amongst destitute children hailing from all parts of India, juvenile offenders less than 16 years of age and children offended against by adult persons. The extent of its activities can be estimated from the fact that in the first ten years of its existence over 8,000 remand cases had passed through the Umarkhadi Home, and that in 1930 a Junior Reformatory School for boys less than 12 years of age was opened in the Umarkhadi compound.

Children under 16 years of age, who are arrested in Bombay City or Suburban District under the Children Act, are kept on remand in the Umarkhadi Children's Home pending disposal through the Children's Court.
